These clinics are staffed by general practice level veterinarians, but specialize in dentistry. Given that they do not see patients for other conditions, emergencies, or wellness visits, they are able to perform multiple dental procedures per day, meaning they have significantly more availability than a general practitioner such as us. We have had many clients have a good experience utilizing their services. They are an excellent resource given our limited availability and we encourage our patients who are unable to wait 4-6 months for a dental procedure to reach out to one of these clinics. Please note that these are not board certified dental specialists, so they do not perform specialty dental work such as root canals.
